Pat: Julia and I came up with most of the concepts and layouts for the pictures in this calendar together. We bounced ideas and tweaked composition until there's no guessing who exactly suggested what. However, several of the best pictures are the pure child of Julia's mind. She came up with them herself, and any contributions I had were, at best, minor tweaks.

That said, this picture was mostly mine. Nobody ever asked to see Bast as a sexy, noir Mr. Tumnus. But I did it. I'm bizarrely proud of the concept of this one, and so glad that Julia could bring it into the world.
